HER TARIFF BOOMERANG

Russia Instituted High Taxes Against Germany and Now Probably Regrets It.

The Kaiser Holds England's War Strength in the Most Utter Disdain.

Analysis of the New Rethelung-France's Ultimatum Is Accepted Unconditionally by Little Siam.

BERLIN, July 28.—It is generally held here that the tariff war started between Russia and Germany is more likely to cause damage to the former country than the latter. It seems that Russia, in applying the maximum tariff on German products, was mainly influenced by unfavorable early reports regarding harvest prospects in Germany. These reports, it is said, led Russia to believe that Germany, desiring Russian grain, etc., would not retaliate for the imposition by Russia of the highest tariff on imported German goods. The condition of German crops, however, especially wheat and rye, has greatly improved.

A remarkable change has occurred within the past few days in the tone of the German press and public conversation in regard to the Franco-Siam imbroglio. Germany has begun to realize that she would be seriously affected in the event of a blockade of the Siam coast, as next to England she controls the greater part of trade with Siam. Communications exchanged with Great Britain and Germany had decided upon the line of conduct she would pursue should German vessels be interfered with by French warships in Siam waters. General satisfaction was expressed to-day when it was known that France had withdrawn the ultimatum of blockade.

An interesting comment was made by Emperor William, prior to departure from Kiel for the Isle of Wight. According to a member of his entourage, the emperor was going on between high officials and the emperor as to the possible outcome of the French dispute with Siam, when his majesty remarked that England and a strong enough to assert herself against any European power or against the United States. He further declared that if the French were to conduct with the aid of these nations, he would not be surprised if the French would burst like a soap bubble.

ACCEPTS THE ULTIMATUM.

Siam Finally Yields to the Demands of France.

PARIS, July 29.—Prince Yachana, Siamese minister, went to the foreign office this morning to communicate to Delville, French chief secretary, informed him that Delville was unable to grant him a visa for the departure of Pavie from Bangkok all diplomatic intercourse was stopped. Prince Yachana exclaimed: "But I bring a flag of truce. We accept the ultimatum." Delville did not wait to hear more, he bowed and said: "The French government has accepted the ultimatum." Delville at once received the prince with exceptional cordiality. After his departure Delville telephoned to the French minister, Dupleix, who summoned an cabinet council. After being informed of the decision the meeting adjourned till to-morrow.

Another semi-official statement says the public will find proof that Great Britain has not intervened. Le Soir says that the French government has accepted the ultimatum. The French government has accepted the ultimatum. The French government has accepted the ultimatum.

COUNTER REVOLUTION FEARED.

Arms Said to Have Been Sent to the Hawaiian Islands.

SA FRANCISCO, July 29.—The Morning Call prints a statement that within the past month arms have been shipped to Hawaii, and the belief is that an attempt is being made to place the natives in position to effect a successful counter revolution against the provisional government. As long ago as March Winchester rifles and cartridges were sent to Hawaii, and the South seas by a whaling fleet, and the best of them found their way to Hawaii. Seventy-eight cases of Winchester rifles were shipped to Hawaii, and the best of them found their way to Hawaii. ## NEW STYLES IN ROBBERY.

One Practiced in Chicago and Another in Wichita, Kan.

One of the most daring robberies known in this city occurred this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ammon, on the south side. Two well dressed men rang the bell about three o'clock and asked for the lady of the house. When she appeared they represented themselves to be detectives in search of a thief, whom they thought Mrs. Ammon's girl was concealing. When they were told that the girl was not at home, they asked to see her. Mrs. Ammon, took her daughter into the parlor and the two men bound and gagged her. ## UNFROCKED A PRIEST.

Done by His Congregation and not by His Superior.

BALTIMORE, July 29.—Father Barabas, pastor of the Holy Rose church (Polish), was roughly handled by some parishioners this morning. His robes were torn from his body and he was severely beaten. The appointment of Father Barabas, who was bitterly opposed by one faction and the trouble has been getting more serious. As he entered the church this morning he was attacked by two women and dragged into the street. Here a great crowd of people attacked him and the police had a hard time to save him. ## All Roads to Rome.

The question is, which is the best one on which to ride. Modern improvements, so generally adopted by all lines to Chicago, have made the special features of accommodation about the same on any one of the routes. However, and one of such concern to many, is the teaching of the world's fair grounds without being jostled and crowded to the limit of the train. The way to prevent any unhappy circumstances in this particular is to take the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway from St. Paul or Minneapolis. "Albert Lea Route" or at any point on the M. & St. L. Why? Because it lands passengers at Englewood, a suburb of Chicago, from which point you can reach the grounds in a very few minutes by electric car, and avoid the great crowds of people who are waiting for the train. A special director of the company meets all trains and assists passengers. Call on any train of the company, or G. M. Pratt, G. T. & P. A., Minneapolis, Minn.

EACH MAN HIS OWN BOSS

The Import of an Address by Senator Hill on Personal Liberty.

No Other Workman or Employer Has Any Right to Interfere.

Where the Danger to Personal Liberty Lies—A Charming Paragraph is Devoted to Silver.

UTICA, N. Y., July 29.—Senator Hill delivered an address to-day before the Hop Browsers association on "Personal Liberty." He said that in the realm of labor and the domain of industry, the principal involved in personal liberty cannot be too frequently asserted. The fact cannot be too strongly emphasized that every man's labor is his own, and he can do with it as he pleases. He has the personal right to name his own wages, his own hours and all other terms under which he is willing to be employed, and if they are satisfactory to the one who hires, the agreement is reached and there is an end of the controversy between them. The contract is a personal matter with which no other workman has any right to interfere.

These considerations do not conflict with the obligations which workmen assume when they voluntarily join labor organizations. "They always must be deemed to serve the abstract right of repudiating such membership whenever they so prefer. In my opinion the citadel of personal liberty in this country is more in danger of being undermined by the ill-considered opinions of some of its judges, the straining of doubtful points, and involving quibbles in favor of corporate power and creating factions to cripple the efforts of honest labor struggling against selfish interests. In my opinion the citadel of personal liberty in this country is more in danger of being undermined by the ill-considered opinions of some of its judges, the straining of doubtful points, and involving quibbles in favor of corporate power and creating factions to cripple the efforts of honest labor struggling against selfish interests.

Speaking of the tendencies of the times, Hill said: "Moralistic changes in our great cities are clamoring for relief from laws which restrict their business in accordance with old-fashioned plans and notions. The whole country is at last awakening to the importance of making our money matters a matter of merchandise by the government itself, and hoping the public conscience will respond to the demands of public sentiment in that regard."

WORK WILL BE GIVEN.

Deserving Men With Families Will Be Cared for in Denver.

DENVER, July 29.—The city was quiet all day, and the indications are that the expected outbreak among the unemployed will not occur. No signs of agitation occurred to-day, although the superintendent of the United States railway stationed the city and state authorities to afford his road protection against the crowds of desperate gangsters. The company is willing to carry a moderate number of persons, but objects to hauling train loads.
