Weather unfavorable. Slig: t increase in death rate. No material spreading of the fever.

MEMPHIS. MEMPHIS, Aug. 30 .- The wet, cool weather which has prevailed since 2 P. M. yesterday has undoubtedly created many new cases of fever, but how many it is impossible to state, owing to the fact that but two physicians had re ported to the board of health up to noon today. Some are indifferent as to the importance of reporting and others too busy attending sick calls, while one, at least, is known to be in open defiance of the board of health, has never open defiance of the board of health, has never reported a case, and claims the prevailing disease is not yellow fever. The death rate, however, will equal if not exceed that of yesterday, when seventy-eight inferments were reported. Up to noon to-day the undertakers report forty-six yellow fever interments. Fathers Bakeland and Meagher are dead. Two fathers and two brothers at the Franciscan monestary are down; also Dr. Thomas, pastor of the Free German Protestant church. Physicians report that the Protestant church. Physicians report that the fever is prevailing to an alarming extent among the colored people, many of whom have had no medical attention for days, and a large increase in the mortuary report may reas-onably be expected. McCabe, commissary, reports to the citizens relief committee that 25,000 rations have been issued to destitute people from Aug. 19 to Aug. 30 inclusive. The demand is constantly increasing, 14,500 rations being issued to-day. The supply on hand is sufficient to last not

The unprecedented spread and fatality of yellow fever, causing an entire suspension of business, has left 75,000 people in this city who are destitute of the means of subsistence and unable to procure work, and a large portion of these are now sick, and the number is constant-ly increasing. Much as the committee dislikes to ask aid again from the charitable abroad, who have so generously responded to former calls, necessity and humanity compels them to request further prompt assistance. C. G. FISHER, Chairman, J. G. LONSDALE, Jr., Treasurer,

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30 .- The Peabody Subsistence association have made a statement of their association, the object of which is to supply subsistence to the destitute. It in no way conflicts with the operation of the Howard as-sociation. The Howard's confine their attentention mainly to providing physicians, nurses fever, and the necessary nourishment for convalescents. Here the duty of the Howard as. sociation ends and that of the Peabody begins.

A Decented City

[Memphis Correspondence Chicago Tribune.] I have thought to supplement the wires by the mailbag to-night, promising that the MSS. shall go through seven processes of disinfection before it is dropped into the box. O. it is no trouble, I assure you. There are gallons of carbolic acid lying about, and burning tar and sulphurous fumes befoul the air under the profession of purifying it. When I look out on the dark, silent street, and these vapors are wafted through the open window, I feel the oppressiveness of the presence of death with that horrible odor of carbolic acid which rises from the little saucers beneath the coffin

A CITY WITHOUT A PEOPLE. this. The echo of my music, as I whistle to keep my courage up, comes back in a sort of wail that jars on my ear. It is almost as bad wail that jars on my ear. It is almost as bad as a midnight stroll in a graveyard, one's imagination assisting to picture the hand of death ter in 34, the half in 1:06, the three-fourths in reaching out from the corner of every padsmelling alley. To have lived in Memphis for the past ten days is almost to have grown gray with fright. The wild panie which seized the city, the scramble for foothold on steamboatdeck or car-platform, the agony of fright pictured everywhere on every one's free week. tured everywhere, on every one's face, were trying enough to the stoutest. More trying, however, it has been to see the death rate gradually crawl up, to see the death rate gradually crawl up, to see familiar names on the death-roll and in the record of the smitten, to witness the monster fingers of death relaxing and stretching forth to grasp a mids half on the deared sity.

wider hold on the doomed city. Then THE HEARSES BEGIN TO GO BY ON A TROT, and a man mathematically inclined could sit down and figure on his chances, and from the ratio of "deaths" to "new cases" learn that if attacked by fever he would hold the chance of one out of two principals in a duel where but one pistol was loaded with ball, the space being over a handkerchief, and he must choose his over a handkerchief, and he must choose his weapon blindfolded. Ugh! I am but human, and I shiver at the thought. No wonder, then, that so few are left, held by necessity or a higher purpose, noble and philanthropic. No wonder that five physicians have turned patients themselves, and on their own prescriptions sought a cooler clime.

The panic that made ours a silent, sleeping city, however, was a Godsend. It snatched from the monster the human lives upon which

Strange to say, many will not accept their offer of safe-ty, but cling to their hovel homes though death grins upon them from every crack in the wall. Arrangements have been made to receive donations in produce from farmers in the surrounding country. All such contents to get them to agree to go out into camp, play gentlemen of elegant leisure and refined ease there, and be well fed free of charge. Do you think they would consent? No, they wouldn't. You see they remember the plague of 1873, and that then the suffron reaper jumped the black ears in his harvest of death. It is useless to tell them that negroes are falling like sheep in the stiff of Grenada and Vicksburg, for they still cling to their theory and demand to be fed in the city at their homes. Perrosungui, Aug. 30.—Active measures for the relief of the fever sufferers continue in this city. The merchants have organized and ex-exodus of white people, they are discharging their trust with a faithfulness that reminds one of the dark days of civil war, when the slave protected the bome, protected the wife and little ones, while the master was bivouacking far away on the field of battle. For the first time in Memphis, they have been given a place on the police force, and their deportment has challenged the admiration of all.

I looked within, where the moonlight fell on the emaciated form stretched upon the mattress, and was proud to shake the clammy hand of the hero of Grenada—the general brought home from the field of battle to die. Gen. Smith is surveyor of the port here, an appointee under Grant's first administration—a man who had been abused, maligned, and ostracized for his political tenets through long, long years. The temper of the changed feelings is found in the words of Dr. Saunders, a Bourbon of the Bourbons, who, hurrying to Gen. Smith's bedside, said: "Forgive, dear sir, for wronging you, for misjudggive, dear sir, for wronging you, for misjudg-ing you in the past. WHAT POLITICIANS ARE DOING ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

Butler Accepts the Nomination for Governor of Massachusetts Extended to Him by Himself--The Platform Upon Which He Proposes to Make the Canvass--The Amended Platform of the Kansas Republicans--Congressional Nominations.

BUTLER ACCEPTS. Boston, Aug. 30 .- Gen. Butler, in a card accepting the nomination of the voters who signed a paper expressing a wish to choose him Governor of Massachusetts, says: "I take the trust with all its cares, and will devote all of the intelligence, labor, forethought and energy which in me lies, and use all the power which they and those who think with them may give to relieve the people's burdens and bring about a more equal and efficient admin-istration of the laws of this commonwealth istration of the laws of this commonwealth which they wish. As we have no organization or platform of party principles, either State or national, it may not be inappropriate to set forth the principles which will guide my political measures as well as the conduct of all governmental functions which may be intrusted to me. Equal rights, equal duties, equal powers, equal privileges to me. Equal rights, equal duties, equal powers, equal burdens, equal privileges, and equal protection by the laws of every man everywhere under the government, State or national. The laws of taxation should be made so plain, so direct and efficient and be so faithfully administered that all of the property of every kind in the commonwealth should be taxed just once every year and no more, as lightly as possible, equally and fairly, and so that none can escape the public burden. A law regulating the rate of interest is advocated. The repeal of the law against usury has in law regulating the rate of interest is advocated. The repeal of the law against usury has in many cases ruined both borrower and savings bank. It certainly has shaken to its foundation our saving bank system. The result may teach the managers of these institutions that when the Almighty thundered his few laws for his chosen people from Mount Sinai, the only financial law delivered t. Moses was, "Take thou no usury of thy brother or in crease." But God was omnipotent wisdom. Let us abolish and fearlessly set aside as far as we can boards, commissions and unconstituas we can boards, commissions and unconstitu-tionally appointed officers and sinecurists, with their relatives and employes now living upon the subsistence of the people extorted from them by taxation. No political party coming to power as such can make or carry out the necessary reformations. With the swarm of hungry office-seekers surrounding the executive of the party, it is impossible to the of the party, it is impossible to abolish need-less offices or to stop the leaks in the treasury from which hungry politicians are fed. We have no political machinery, no political wireworkers, who can make claim on us. We are directly from the people and of the people. nay, the people themselves. Let the people in-terpose just this once between the governing ring and people without the middlemen of conring and people without the middlemen of conventions or regard to political issues. The legislative and executive departments of the State in the coming year cannot in any way, and if they do their full duty to the people, and do the work of the people, instead of thrusting it upon boards and commissions, and attend to reforms needed at home,

In the State convention to-day the following were substituted for the fourth, fifth and sixth planks of the platform reported yesterday by Fourth—The public credit should be sacredly maintained, and all obligations of the gov-ernment honestly discharged, and that we denounce the issue of an irredemable absolute money legal tender scrip as a species of repudi-ation which would ruin the credit of the nation and business interests of the country.

Fifth—That experience has shown that the greenback currency, the creation of the Republican party and under whose fostering care it has been brought to a par with coin, to be admirably adapted to the wants of trade, and to the end that there may be but one class of paper currency, we favor the withdrawal of national bank rotes, substituting therefor ureenback currency issued directly by the government. greenback currency issued directly by the government as the sole paper currency of the country, and we demand that it be issued in sufficient volume to meet the wants of business without depreciating its value, and that it shall be received in payment of all debts and dues, public and private, exof all debts and dues, public and private, except as otherwise specified by contract. That we are in favor of an honest greenback, that shall always be worth its face in coin, and that it be issued in the largest volumes that can be kept affoat at par with coin, to which end we favor a law of Congress by which the volume of the greenback currency in circula-tion shall always obey the national law of supply and demand.

Sixth—That as we believe a double coir standard of values is preferable to a single standard, we are in favor of placing the coinage of gold and silver on a par, giving to neither an advantage or preference. SHERMAN'S SPEECH.

An Attempt to Rob a Union Pacific Train Attended With Tragic Results

Omaha Special (Aug. 27) to Chicago Tribune.

Another attempt to rob a Union Pacific express train was recently made, and has resulted in the tragic death of two men. The plan was to ditch the train and then rob it, section foreman. The matter has been kept very quiet until this evening, when the whole urday evening. Aug. 17, the section foreman just east of Medicine Bow discovered the spikes and splices removed from a rail, and he discovered the foot-prints of eight horses and men near the rail. The facts were reported to the railroad officers, but, as a rainstorm came up, the trail was washed out. Next morning, however, a party found the trail and followed it in a zig-zag fashion south of the railroad. They then went nto Piercy station. At an early hour Monday morning of last week Tip expert plainsman, and Deputy Sheriff Widlowfield went out from Carbon to look for the train robbers, intending to return before dinner. They did not return that day, and, as they had taken no camp equipage with them, their friends began to feel uneasy. So, on Wednesday, they having not yet returned, a party went out to look for them. The party returned on Saturday without them, but they had learned from some surveyors that two men in the vicinity of Rattlesnake creek had gone into the timber, and that twenty shots were heard soon after. The surveyors supposed them to be hunters, and, therefore, thought no more of the incident. Upon these facts becoming known. Sheriff Lowry, of Piercy, came to Medicine Bow yesterday morning, and, with twenty men, set out for Elk mountain, twenty miles north of Piercy, being accompanied by Superintendent Dickinson, of the Laramie division. John Foote, who knew every foot of the country, and also one of the sur veyors. They discovered nothing all day yesterday, but this morning, under the guidance of Foote, they came to a recent camping-place, and after a short search they were horrified to find Vincent and Widdowfield lying dead, their bodies perforated with bullets, and in an advanced of decomposition. The bodies were brough's into the railroad station this evening. The railroad officials propose to make every possible effort to capture the murderers.

A Wisconsin Ghost. The sensation in the quiet village of Winneconne, Winnebago county, Wis., is this: Several evenings since the residents in the immediate neighborhood of the Methodist church of that village were astonished to hear the sounds of music from the organ in the building. It was late in the evening, and perhaps attracted more general attention than at an earlier bour. A crowd of people soon gathered, and speculation was rife as to the probable cause of the singular phenomena. After a brief period it was resolved that the matter should be investigated, and two or three of the more brave of the party started to effect an entrance to the church. What was their surprise to find that the door had been broken open, and to all appearance a had been committed. burglary sounds still continued, and a further investigation revealed a woman dressed in deep mourning and closely veiled manipulating the instrument. Fearing to proceed further without additional aid they returned to the entrance of the church, but in the meanwhile the music ceased and the return of the party disclosed the fact that the singular apparition had disappeared, and, although a thorough search was made, no trace of the woman could be found, and the party returned somewhat discomfited and dismaved The affair has created no little excitement blistering, scalding, disagreeable and unhealthy months that it has ever been our lot has been developed that would unravel the and talk in the village, but nothing thus far to endure.
